

Haldeman, Gibson in race for mayor

By Lynne Locke

Two candidates for the four-year term of mayor are incumbent Abner B. Haldeman and challenger George M. Gibson, who presently serves as councilman.

Abner B. Haldeman

Abner B. Haldeman said "no growth" is the main issue to many people, but commented the city will face economic problems if the tax base decreases.

He said he believes in a balanced budget and in responsible city government "designed to build confidence in the business sector thereby increasing job opportunities."

A responsible city government also improves the quality of life in Upland by encouraging "desirable industries and businesses to locate in appropriate areas," Haldeman said and added he will continue to oppose high-density residential or commercial encroachment into single-family residential areas.

"Good planning is getting ready for the next generation. Upland shows the result of good planning," he commented and added he paced the development of Upland by coordinating the over-all capital improvements committee which set long-range development of water and sewer systems, a park system and a public building and development program.

Haldeman said he appointed the city's first mayoral advisory committee to seek out people with experience and the capability to gather facts on important issues facing the city.

He also said a functioning transportation system using minibuses and dial-a-ride station wagons started during his term as mayor.

Haldeman has served three terms on the City Council and is Upland's first elected mayor. He has also served as city manager of San Jacinto and has 20 years of experience in college administration and six years as a senior business analyst and office services supervisor for Sunkist Growers Inc.

He heads the League of California Cities committee on assessment practices affecting rehabilitation of buildings and is vice chairman of the league committee on revenue and taxation.

George M. Gibson

George M. Gibson said as mayor he would insist on "high quality development from the residential, commercial and industrial standpoint" and noted he would protect residents of both new and older sections from undesirable zoning and development.

Gibson said he has served on the Upland City Council 12 years including the time during which Upland experienced its greatest growth. "Since little vacant land remains in Upland the next four years will be as crucial as the past 12. Future growth must be of the character to benefit the city," he commented.

"Upland is a remarkable city located in beautiful natural surroundings. I have been active in legislation to guide development which will do justice to our environment," he said and added, "The establishment of the Architectural Commission and the enactment of the sign ordinance are two projects which have been instrumental in enhancing the character of Upland's residences and businesses."

Gibson said he also would work toward improved recreational programs for youth by securing facilities, fields and equipment for both boys and girls and would increase senior citizen involvement in Upland's recreation programs.

Another important goal is efficient, economical government for a financially sound city and avoidance of unnecessary tax increases, he commented and said he would work for a high-quality government service with honest, efficient, courteous employees with pride in their jobs and community.

During his three terms on the council, Gibson served as council-designated mayor 1968-72. His career includes five years in banking, 14 years as a special agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation and 15 years at Kaiser Steel where he is superintendent of plant protection.

Gibson holds a bachelor's degree in philosophy from the University of Wisconsin and a juris doctor degree from Chicago Dent College of Law. He was admitted to the Illinois State Bar.

Election endorsements

West End Public Employees Coalition has endorsed the following candidates in Tuesday's election: George M. Gibson for mayor; William (Bill) Bottin for city council; and Doreen (Dee) Carpenter for city clerk. The coalition also voted to support the proposed firefighters retirement program on the ballot Tuesday.

Bottin, Contreras, McGarry, Morris

Four run for City Council

Candidates for a four-year City Council term include William "Bill" Bottin, Isabelle L. Contreras, Howard K. McGarry and Jerry L. Morris.

William "Bill" Bottin

Bottin is running for City Council to work for responsible city government designed to improve the quality of life in Upland.

His major concerns include keeping taxes at a reasonable level and setting budget priorities; planning development so homeowners and property owners both get "a fair deal"; determining the amount of development Upland can experience before schools, sanitation and police and fire protection are overstrained; assuring the council sets policy rather than the city staff; and maintaining communication between elected officials, city employees and residents.

Bottin, who has been an Upland homeowner since 1963, is manager of defense programs at Rohr Industrial Systems. He has 30 years of business experience in engineering, manufacturing, management and marketing. He majored in business administration at Butler and Indiana University.

Isabelle Contreras

Mrs. Contreras said Upland needs sound planning that "allows for orderly growth of the community balancing human and economical needs."

She said all citizens should have a sense of dignity and self-worth and added Upland's senior citizens need representation.

"I'm very sincere in my desire to serve all the people in Upland. We must all live together as citizens and neighbors," Mrs. Contreras commented.

"My major qualification for City Council is day-to-day involvement with citizens who go to their jobs and have family responsibilities while facing economic needs," she said.

Mrs. Contreras is a native of Upland and holds a degree in law enforcement. She serves as a member of the citizens board to determine use of federal funds in Upland, coordinator for the Upland Recreation Department, police and community relations, and secretary for the Los Olivos Community Council.

Howard K. McGarry

McGarry said cost of city services is increasing rapidly and noted his background as an administrator has provided experience in preparing budgets and maintaining performance with limited resources.

In addition, McGarry said he would ask state and federal legislators to provide a fairer distribution of tax dollars to provide necessary city services.

He said the city should develop ways of measuring the effects of growth so the council can make informed judgments and avoid "the extremes" on both sides of the development issue.

"As this growth continues I believe proper attention needs to be placed upon an adequate park and recreation system that will meet the needs of all groups," McGarry commented.

He is an administrator with the California Department of Corrections and has 15 years' experience as an administrator in state government. McGarry holds a bachelor's degree in political science and a master's degree in social welfare, both from the University of California at Berkeley.

Jerry L. Morris

Morris said Upland must be prepared "to hold the line on spending" since federal revenue-sharing funds may decrease or end.

He said Upland should spread the tax burden by developing the city's industrial-commercial sections which are "well-zoned and buffered" from residential sections. "Only in this manner can the individual homeowner hope to avoid having to shoulder the bulk of the burden," he added.

Morris said there may be ways to improve procedures developers face in working with the city staff, but noted Upland's zoning is progressive.

"I have spent four years as a city planning commissioner. I am proud of our record as a commission and of the quality development we continue to enjoy in Upland," he commented.

Morris is a elementary school teacher with a bachelor's degree in political science from California State Polytechnic University, Pomona. He is presently vice chairman of the Planning Commission and served as secretary for the ad hoc committee on development of Upland regional parks.

Retirement issue on Upland ballot

By Lynne Locke

Upland voters will decide Tuesday whether to raise the city's tax rate 6.2 cents to finance an improved retirement system for Upland Fire Department employees.

The proposed "Two percent as 50" retirement plan, which is presently used by the police employees, would cost the city an estimated $63,400 the first year with subsequent costs increasing as fire employee salaries increase.

Under the present system employees can receive 50 per cent of their final salary if they are employed by the department from age 35-55 and could receive an additional amount if they joined the district earlier or retired later.

The proposed system would provide two per cent of the final salary for each year of employment to a maximum of 75 per cent of the salary.

Firefighters Association President Tom Moseley offered the following "rough" example:

Under the present system an engineer, who has worked from age 25-55 and retires with a final salary of $1,400 per month, would receive 50 per cent of his salary, or $700 per month. Under the proposed system the engineer would receive $1,050 per month.

Moseley said an improved retirement system is particularly important for Fire Department personnel because the work is so strenuous they often have to retire early.

He also said the new system would correct an inequity in the present system which provides lower pensions for employees who join the department at earlier ages.

Council members Hal Bailin and Ina Petokas oppose the improved system on the basis of cost to residents.

Bailin said once the system is approved, the city "loses control" since there is no limit on the amount the tax rate could be raised to pay for the retirement system.

"It is geared to a percentage of wages so an increase in wages increases the tax rate," he said and noted the fire employees are asking the council for salary and benefit increases.

Bailin said present inequities in retirement "should be a matter of reform of the existing system."

Council members George Gibson and John McCarthy said they have not taken a public stand on the issue but believe voters should have the right to decide the matter.

Mayor Abner Haldeman also had not taken a public stand at press time but said he would decide the matter on the basis of the "facts and figures" of the total tax picture.

Upland voters to decide Tuesday

Two compete for city clerk

Upland voters will register their preferences Tuesday for the four-year terms of city clerk and city treasurer. Candidates for city clerk are incumbent Doreen "Dee" Carpenter and challenger Mary Lucas. Robert A. Thrall is running unopposed for his fifth term as treasurer.

Mary Lucas said her primary reason for running for the office of city clerk is the need for more communication between city government and Upland residents.

"I was urged to run for this office by several people who feel as I do that the information just isn't coming forth as it should," she said and noted that zone changes and other actions in northwest Upland have occurred without adequate communication with residents. She pledged her private interest in improving the conditions in Upland's animal control facility would not affect her duties as city clerk.

Mrs. Lucas said her 31 years of experience in business and contracts with the federal government qualifies her for the position of city clerk.

Doreen "Dee" Carpenter said her goals as city clerk are "to perform my duties with a constructive, creative and practical attitude and to continually improve my ability and usefulness as a trusted public official."

She is one of 45 city and county clerks to complete the first three-year segment of the continuing education program for city and county clerks at the University of California, of Santa Cruz and soon hopes to receive designation as a certified municipal clerk.

Voters in the Alta Loma School District will decide Tuesday whether the district will be allowed to seek $8.1 million in bonds and state loans to provide facilities for student enrollment which is expected to almost double in four years.

The two ballot measures, which must be approved by a two-thirds vote, will not increase property taxes, according to the school board.

The ballot measures would provide a $1.5 bond and authorize $6.6 million in state loans. State law limits expenditures of the funds to site purchase and preparation, and construction of buildings. The funds cannot be used for operating costs such as salaries or supplies.

More than 2,150 students attend the district's one junior high and two elementary schools. Students are on double session at Carnelian School until Jasper School is completed, but Jasper is expected to be nearly full when it opens.

District enrollment is expected to include an additional 2,000 students by 1980 if new housing construction continues in the Alta Loma area.

Projects planned for funding under the ballot measures include a 10-room addition to Jasper School, purchase and construction of an elementary school in north Alta Loma, doubling facilities at Alta Loma Junior High School, and construction of the district's fourth elementary school.

By a 79 per cent vote, Alta Loma voters approved a $780,000 bond measure in March 1974.

Dual celebration

YMCA marks 125th year

This year not only marks an important anniversary for America, but also for America's YMCA, Don Deal, executive director of the West End Y said today.

"1976 is the 125th birthday of America's YMCA," Deal said, "and the Y will be celebrating with special programs throughout the year both in honor of its own anniversary and in honor of our nation's Bicentennial."

"America has changed dramatically since the first YMCA was launched in Boston, Mass., in 1851," Deal pointed out. "Just two years before, gold had been discovered in California. Much of the vast territory west of the Mississippi had yet to be carved into states. The Civil War was still a decade away."

As the country and its needs have changed, so, too, have the programs of the YMCA. Today the Y, with well over nine million participants across the United States, is putting much of its resources into programs that tackle needs and opportunities not even considered in 1851.

Deal cited several national Y programs that are breaking new ground for the organization. "With coronary-related diseases ranked as the nation's number one killer," he said, "the Y has launched a nationwide cardiovascular program which, it believes, will substantially cut into the number of coronary deaths."

The new program calls for setting up a nationwide network of cardiovascular health and heart rehabilitation centers to serve eight million Americans by 1980.

"With youth crime statistics growing rapidly, YMCAs in many urban areas are pioneering juvenile justice programs, often in cooperation with other agencies, that are reaching increasing number of troubled young people," Deal said.

With the disintegration of family an all too frequent phenomenon of modern life, the YMCA is also increasing its emphasis on family programming, whether it be through special programs designed to improve family communications or through family memberships at the Y.

"Family memberships, in fact, are among the fastest growing categories in the YMCA today," Deal said. "Family memberships across the U.S. rose to 1.2 million in 1974, a 127 per cent increase in the past 10 years."

"Finally," Deal said,

"with the weapons of total destruction still casting a shadow over the entire world, the YMCAs of America, working with YMCAs around the world, have made the building of international understanding and world peace a major goal."

Deal urged everyone to visit the YMCA during its 125th birthday party to find out "what your YMCA can do for you and what you can do for your YMCA."

"We think everyone may be surprised to find out just what is going on in the YMCA in the West End, across the country, and around the world."

The above-entitled action is now pending in this Court. The action has been brought as a class action on behalf of the class which is defined below. You may be a member of this class and if so, your rights may be affected.

THIS NOTICE IS NOT TO BE UNDERSTOOD AS AN EXPRESSION OF ANY OPINION OF THIS COURT AS TO THE MERITS OF ANY OF THE CLAIMS OR DEFENSES ASSERTED BY EITHER SIDE IN THIS LITIGATION. THIS NOTICE IS SENT FOR THE SOLE PURPOSE OF INFORMING YOU OF THE PENDENCY OF THIS LITIGATION SO THAT YOU MAY DECIDE WHAT STEPS YOU WISH TO TAKE IN RELATION TO THIS LAWSUIT.

A. The Litigation.
Plaintiff's complaint alleges that by its advertising, defendant induced holders of its Chevron National credit cards in Southern California to purchase F-310 gasoline during the period commencing January 1, 1970 and ending April 20, 1970. The complaint alleges that defendant represented in its advertising that use of F-310 would substantially reduce air pollution in Southern California and would significantly reduce exhaust emissions from motor vehicles using F-310 gasoline. The complaint alleges further that each member of the class who made a credit purchase in reliance on advertising he saw or heard was damaged in an amount being the difference between the price each member of the class paid for F-310 and the price each member would have otherwise paid for other gasoline during the period in question. Punitive damages are also sought.

Defendant has denied each of the allegations of the complaint.

For the purpose of this definition, "Southern California" encompasses the counties of Santa Barbara, Ventura, Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Orange, San Diego, Riverside and Imperial."

To be a member of this class you may be required to provide evidence to show that: (1) You were the holder of a Chevron National credit card residing in any of the counties of Southern California mentioned above during the period commencing January 1, 1970 and ending April 20, 1970; (2) That during said period you saw or heard a particular form of the advertising complained of, and that you made at least one purchase of gasoline from defendant, using your credit card because you relied upon the advertising and not for some other reason; (3) The price you paid when you made a credit purchase of gasoline from defendant during said period and the price you would have otherwise paid if you had purchased the same amount elsewhere.

NOW, THEREFORE, TAKE NOTICE:
1. If you wish to be excluded from the class ("opt out") you may do so by advising the Clerk, Department 41, Los Angeles County Courthouse, 111 North Hill Street, Los Angeles, California 90012, that you wish to do so. Any amount of attorneys' fees which actually may be awarded by the court, together with certain costs and expenses will be deducted from any judgment rendered before your pro rata share of the judgment can be determined.

Truck drivers due

Truck drivers with a yen for drag racing will have an opportunity to test their rigs in controlled competition on Sunday, Feb. 29, when two-time Indy 500 winner Rodger Ward presents the inaugural Truckers Nationals at Ontario Motor Speedway.

The unique race is open to trucks ranging from the big ten-wheeler, three-axle rigs down to full trucks of over 20,000 pounds with dump or full bodies attached.

More than 300 of the heavy duty machines are expected to compete in eight separate competition classes, utilizing basic drag racing rules and electronic timing for speed and acceleration.

According to Ward, the response has been tremendous, and the event has been the talk of the trucker's CB (citizens band) radio hot line for the past several weeks.

"The word seems to have gotten out around the country," Ward said.

Join Ralphs 103rd Anniversary celebration Biggest Cheese Sale in town

No other family of foods is so numerous or so varied. None is so universally accepted and enjoyed. And no other supermarket offers you a selection as big as Ralphs. At Ralphs delicatessen you'll find more than 130 cheeses in all sizes and shapes. And now during the biggest cheese sale in town is the time to stock up and enjoy the many ways to serve cheese. Use the following recipes to delight your family this week.

Quiche (Kesh) Lorraine

- 1 8-8 inch pie crust (unbaked)
- 6 slices of crisp bacon, crumbled
- 4 eggs
- 1 cup Swiss cheese (grated)
- 1 cup half and half
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- dash of ground black pepper
- dash of ground cayenne pepper

Sprinkle grated cheese and bacon into pie crust. Beat remaining ingredients together and pour over cheese. Bake in preheated oven (375 degrees F) for 45 minutes or until firm and browned. Cut into wedges and serve hot. (Small slivers of ham may be used in place of bacon.)

Creamy Macaroni and Cheese

- 1 cup uncooked elbow macaroni
- 2 Tablespoons margarine (or butter)
- 2 Tablespoons flour
- 1/2 teaspoon powdered mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- dash of ground black pepper
- 2 cups milk
- 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 1/2 cups cheddar cheese, shredded
- 2 Tablespoons fine dry bread crumbs

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until barely tender. Drain and put in greased 2-quart casserole. Melt margarine in saucepan; blend in flour, mustard, salt and pepper, stirring constantly until smooth. Remove from heat and add milk gradually and stir until mixture thickens. When thick, add Worcestershire and cheese; cook until cheese melts. Combine with macaroni. Sprinkle with bread crumbs mixed with melted margarine. Bake uncovered in a preheated oven (350 degrees F) for 30 minutes.

BRAINWASHING WON'T CURE A RECURRING HEADACHE

By Dr. W. P. Helzer, D.C.

"Most persons do not die from natural causes; they kill themselves."

There is more truth in this observation than most of us would care to admit. The man who is alert for the faintest off-normal symptom in the engine of his motor car and who hurries to a service station to have it corrected — will abuse and neglect the most delicate of all mechanisms — the human body — until a "break-down" forces him to take time out for a prolonger — and usually costly — renovation.

And this is just as true of the women, too!

Frankly, it amazes me to find people accepting headaches as discomfort to be expected and endured to some extent.

Frequently, in examining a new patient, I'll find something that suggest the possibility of repeated headaches. Of course, I'll ask the patient whether or not he or she does, in fact, get headaches.

The answer is often "Yes, Doctor, I've been getting headaches for the past two or three years. I take something each time and they seem to disappear."

My point is that while people will seek immediate and effective treatment for a headache or other serious problems which are of themselves not unusual, they overlook others such as headaches that are just as dangerous and perilous to one's well-being.

The public has been brainwashed about headaches. People are constantly reminded of self-treatment of headaches by using pain killers, and they overlook the serious consequences of allowing a headache condition to re-occur on a constant and continual basis.

Then there are headaches which people do not accept so casually.

Unfortunately, they are the headaches which are too frequent and too severe to endure. We see people with chronic headache problems every day.

The causes of headaches are varied and numerous. They may come from circulatory disturbances, kidney disorders, digestive upsets, etc. There are "sinus headaches", headaches from nervous disorders, the migraine headache, and many others.

The symptom of a headache is easy enough to identify. I guess you could simply say you have a hurt in the head.

But there is nothing comical about the consequences of a headache left untreated.

And while a pesky headache may be easily relieved with a pain remedy, it occurs to me that it would be just as easy to attack the cause of the problem on a "once and for all" basis.

If you think that once you've had a headache you are bound to have another, you'll be right under one condition.

And that's on the condition that you never seek permanent relief of the headache.

And it certainly won't kill you if you try!

Daniel Kalbach, an Upland High School graduate, is attending the University of Provence, France as a participant in the 1975-76 international programs of the California state universities and colleges.

Kalbach is a junior at California State College, Sonoma where he is majoring in comparative literature and minoring in French. He also speaks German.

Kalbach, who plans to teach college-level literature, attended California State Polytechnic University, Pomona and the University of New Mexico, Albuquerque.

The international programs allow upper-division students to study for a year at universities and study centers in Denmark, Germany, Japan, France, Italy, Mexico, New Zealand, Republic of China, Sweden, Spain and Great Britain.

Students must meet the foreign school's language proficiency requirements.

Student

Scott Soden of Upland will attend automotive mechanical training courses at Universal Technical Institute, Phoenix, Arizona after graduation from Upland High School in June. The one-year course will prepare him for work as a skilled automotive technician.

Alumnus

Gus Ramos, former resident and present executive director of Los Olivos Housing Project, has been named the honored alumnus of the year by the West End Boys' Club.

He was a member of the boys' club when it was located in Los Olivos and directed by Delfino Segovia.

Ramos, who credits the boys' club with providing a "broader perspective and challenge for leadership in the community," has served as mayor pro tem of the city of Ontario.

He is also a member of the West End Boys' Club Board of Directors and Ontario - Upland Jaycees.

The Town Crier

To help citizens of Upland better understand their city's responsibilities and services and to get answers on city government, John Shoemaker, Upland community relations coordinator, is bringing City Hall to the people through the courtesy of the Upland News. The column "The Town Crier" is designed to be informative on all issues of city government.

To reach "The Town Crier," write: Community Relations, City of Upland, 460 N. Euclid Ave., Upland, CA. 91786. Persons should include their name, address and telephone number. Only initials will be listed in the column.

QUESTION: There have been times when our trash has been missed. Who do we phone to report it? D.Z.
ANSWER: Trash containers should be placed at the curb or alley the night before the scheduled collection day and collection begins at 7 a.m. In the event there was an oversight, phone 982-2617 and make immediate notification to the Upland Sanitation Department.

QUESTION: Can you explain CAL-OSHA to me? B.B.
ANSWER: On Dec. 20, 1970, the President signed into law the Williams-Steiger Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (OSHA), which became effective April 28, 1971. The California Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1973, known as CAL-OSHA, was passed and approved by the governor Oct. 2, 1973 to take effect immediately. The purpose of the OSHA and CAL-OSHA Acts is to assure, so far as possible, every working man and woman safe and healthful working conditions and to preserve our human resources.

QUESTION: Can you give us some information on the "Neighborhood Watch"? W.N.

ANSWER: "Neighborhood Watch" was established by the Upland Police Department in cooperation with several neighborhood groups in an effort to reduce crime by soliciting citizens involvement. The purpose of the program is not to get the residents to do the work of the police but for them to be the eyes and ears of the Police Department. Small groups involving 15 or 16 homes select a neighborhood leader to help coordinate the program in that particular neighborhood. Under the program, citizens help the police by patrolling their neighborhood, keeping watch on neighbors' homes, reporting suspicious activities, strengthening the security of their homes and marking their property for identification if stolen. For further information contact Captain Coy Estes at the Upland Police Department or call 982-1331.

QUESTION: Have called several times to have tree limbs trimmed away from a street light as it does not shine on my front walk and steps. Will you kindly check to see if my request will be acted upon? M.A.C.

ANSWER: Your request has been reviewed. The parkway tree cannot be trimmed to provide your property with lighting. Street lights are to light the streets, not private property. Suggestions as to how to illuminate your property will be forwarded to you.

QUESTION: There are no street signs in our new subdivision. Even the postman is confused. How long is it going to take? K.H.

ANSWER: Street signs have been ordered. The city purchases signs from various companies, therefore, length of time in delivery varies. The city installs signs as soon as they are received.

HOLT AND INDIAN HILL — POMONA

These four rapid readers and two of their classmates won a "read-in" contest for classes at Los Amigos Jr. High School, Cucamonga. Claire Gray's sixth grade class, including Raymond Lopez, left, Marie Karen Sanders, Marie Martinez and Gabriel Medina, right and Monica Montoya and Jose Mariscal, absent, won the competition. The group averaged 349.1 pages apiece during the period from Jan. 21 through Jan. 29. The idea for the contest was brought to the school by teachers who attended the California Reading Conference in Fresno recently. Students at the school read a total of 34,040 pages during the week. Books for reading more than 300 pages were awarded to 84 students.

Academic test scores

Central students below anticipated ranges

The recently released results of the state academic testing program indicate Central School District students ranked below their anticipated levels in second- and third-grade reading tests and two of the four sixth-grade tests of basic skills.

Administered last spring, the tests questioned sixth grade students in four academic skills — reading, written expression, spelling and math. Second and third graders were tested only in reading.

Results for the Central district, located in northern Cucamonga, were reported in three sections:

— Percentage of correct answers.

— Percentile ranking, which was computed by identifying the state's school district scoring at the state median point and, according to percentage of correct answers, ranking half the state's districts above and the other half below the 50th percentile.

— The district's placement in relation to a "comparison" ranking band, which formerly was called an expectancy band.

The comparison band ranges from 25 per cent above to 25 per cent below the score a district would achieve if it performed at the state median level, after adjustment was made for past test scores and, most important, economic and other background factors.

The state-furnished scores for the Central School District are:

— Second-grade reading: percentile rank, 27 (which means 73 per cent of the state's 4,756 elementary-level districts scored higher); comparison ranking band, 36th to 59th percentile (below anticipated range); correct answers, 62.9 per cent; state median district's correct answers, 69.7 per cent.

— Third-grade reading: percentile rank, 28; comparison ranking band, 32nd to 59th percentile (below anticipated range); correct answers, 78.7 per cent; state median district's correct answers, 83.9 per cent.

— Sixth-grade reading: percentile rank, 36; comparison ranking band, 37th to 59th percentile (below anticipated range); correct answers, 54.8 per cent; state median district's correct answers, 57.2 per cent.

— Sixth-grade written expression: percentile rank, 40; comparison ranking band, 40th to 61st percentile (within anticipated range); correct answers, 50.7 per cent; state median district's correct answers, 52.3 per cent.

— Sixth-grade spelling: percentile rank, 41; comparison ranking band, 38th to 61st percentile (within anticipated range); correct answers, 47.7 per cent; state median district's correct answers, 49.6 per cent.

— Sixth-grade math: percentile rank, 34; comparison ranking band, 41st to 64th percentile (below anticipated range); correct answers, 47.5 per cent; state median district's correct answers, 50.1 per cent.

The Central district's two elementary campuses — Valle Vista and Central schools — were provided test results for its own campus. Scores for individual students, however, are not available under the state's matrix sampling test procedure.

Under the matrix testing system, each student was given a portion of the total test. The final result was compiled by pooling all the answers and computing a percentage of correctly answered questions.

Counties to receive millions

The Southern California Association of Governments (SCAG) approved the allocation of over $108 million in local transportation funds to six Southern California counties at the February meeting of its executive committee.

"It is important that eligible cities, counties and transit agencies apply for these funds before April 1 in order to receive them in fiscal year 1976-77," explained Los Angeles County Supervisor James Hayes, SCAG president. According to Hayes, the funds are provided by a portion of sales tax revenues and will be distributed primarily for transportation planning, operations and development.

Sorority names queens

Local chapters of the Foothill Area Council of Beta Sigma Phi crowned Valentine queens when the council held the Valentine Ball recently at Henri's Restaurant in Montclair.

There were 120 members and their husbands attending the evening of dinner and dancing to the music of Mixed Company.

Sherri Horton was mistress of ceremonies. The crowning area was decorated by Foothill Area Council board members.

Sue Gonzalez was crowned Valentine queen of Xi Gamma Kappa Chapter. Her princesses were Wilma Ogle and Ada Mercado.

The two princesses running for queen of Epsilon Beta Chapter were Karen Merrill and Margy Simons, both of Alta Loma, with Mrs. Merrill being crowned queen.

Marie Salhoff was crowned queen of Preceptor Upsilon, while Colleen Rodrick wore the crown of Xi Theta Gamma. Other queens were: Irene Rodriguez, Gamma Alpha Theta; Marilyn Hart, Beta Alpha Theta; and Mrs. Firat Tuncay, Rho Chi. Mrs. Tuncay also serves as president of the chapter.

Each queen was presented with a bouquet of handmade, red, silk roses and a queen pin.

The next function of the council will be the potluck and election of officers on April 5 and Founder's Day on April 29.

Mrs. Robert Sevilla of Montclair has become a member of Rho Chi Chapter. She is active with service projects and is civil awareness chairperson.

History of chocolate candy revealed

Americans have always had a sweet tooth. Nevertheless, chocolate got off to a slow start in this country, with no inkling that it would turn into an industry with sales in excess of a billion dollars annually, according to the Chocolate Manufacturers Association of the U.S.A.

In the early 1700s, chocolate produced in Europe could be found in a few apothecary shops in New York and Philadelphia. In 1755, raw cocoa beans were imported for the first time by Massachusetts traders who sailed to South America and the West Indies.

These beans necessarily required extensive processing, and in 1765 an Irish immigrant, John Hannon — with the financial backing of a wealthy doctor — established the first American chocolate factory in Dorchester, Massachusetts.

It is not surprising that a doctor financed the first chocolate factory. At that time, doctors were very interested in chocolate as a way to improve the unpleasant taste of some medicines. At this time, it was necessary to hand-grind cocoa beans to manufacture chocolate.

And what profession could have been better equipped to do this than the medical, skilled at using mortar and pestle?

This ability, coupled with their professional needs, turned many physicians into producers of confections. Generally, "confections" were defined as medicines made palatable with the addition of sugar and spices. Around 1770, when the Scotsman James Watt had perfected his steam engine, the laborious job of grinding beans went from hand to machine.

Since the time of the Aztecs, man has loved the taste of chocolate, but he hasn't always loved its price. When chocolate was introduced to Europe it sold for $2.50 to $5 per pound, and prices remained high into the 19th century.

Yet the demand for chocolate was there — if the price was right. Several inventions, notably water power and later steam power, allowed chocolate makers to produce more and more chocolate at lower and lower prices. The quality and variety of the product also improved considerably. Two landmark discoveries in Europe, C.J. Van Houten's production of cocoa powder in 1828 and M. Daniel Peter's creation of milk chocolate in 1875, did much to stimulate the public's taste for chocolate and spur its production and consumption both in Europe and America.

The latter part of the 19th century was the glorious period of penny candy, when chocolate was produced in huge "planks" 18 inches long, two inches thick and 12 inches wide. A shopkeeper had to use a small hammer and chisel to break the mammoth bar into pieces to fill a "penny" bag.

Chocolate-covered candies were born in 1870 when a confectioner, trying to sell more candy creams, hit on the idea of covering the creams with chocolate so they would hold together better.

Chocolate-covered candies — the forerunner of today's assorted bite-sized chocolates and boxed confections — immediately gained popularity. These chocolates originally were hand-dipped, but in 1900 the French invented a machine for this process, making chocolate still more available to the general public. All these inventions laid the groundwork for the modern chocolate industry we know today.

At the beginning of the 20th century, chocolate manufacturers began experimenting with a product now found in just about every supermarket, drug or variety store across the country: the chocolate bar. The first bars were sheets of milk chocolate, usually containing peanuts, that the storekeeper sliced into three sizes: penny, nickel and dime. Eventually, to save time, individually-wrapped bars appeared.

In the military sector, the record shows that provisions for General Braddock's army (in which George Washington served), fighting in the Alleghenies against the French and Indians in 1755, included chocolate. Besides the ready energy chocolate provided, it also served as a pleasant reminder of their faraway homes to the ragged, hungry soldiers.

Chocolate was first shipped abroad to U.S. troops stationed in the Philippines in 1898 during the Spanish-American War, but it did not regularly appear as an on-the-march item until 1908.

During World War I, one-ounce chocolate cakes were issued as part of survival kits. They tasted so good, however, that troops wolfed them down as soon as they were issued, forgetting they were to be reserved for emergencies.

During World War II, chocolate became a staple item in GI rations and American manufacturers voluntarily set aside half their production for armed services. Thus, since Washington's time, chocolate has accompanied American soldiers in our battles for freedom.

The tradition of American excellence in the production of chocolate continues today. The United States has the most definitive standards for ingredients in chocolate and cocoa products of any country in the world. Because of high standards and quality controls practiced by U.S. chocolate manufacturers, it's no wonder each American, on the average, annually consumes more than 17 pounds of candy of which two-thirds is chocolate in some form.

Crash diet causes gaunt look

Crash dieting does more than take off pounds quickly. It can leave you exhausted and open to infection. It also backfires on your beauty plans since it can give you a haggard, gaunt look and accentuate lines in the face. Avoid such problems with a sensible, nutritious, slow weight loss diet.

Ministerial Fellowship to host Bible studies

"People throughout history have struggled to live their lives as they themselves wished, yet even today many live under oppression and are often tortured for their beliefs." In an effort to examine this subject in a Christian context, the Bonita Ministerial Fellowship is sponsoring a community Bible study program entitled "The Freedom to Live," as part of the Bicentennial emphasis in our country this year.

Small groups will meet in homes throughout the area beginning Monday for about 1½ hours a week for six weeks. The study guide is a publication of the World Home Bible League which is headquartered in South Holland, Illinois, and contains a Bicentennial emphasis of the spiritual roots of the U.S. Chapter headings include "The Freedom to Live in Submission to Christ," "The Freedom to Live in the Power of the Spirit," "The Freedom to Live in Love for Others," and "The Freedom to Live in Concern for our Nation."

Members of the congregations of participating churches will host the groups which will meet under a wide schedule, day or evening and all days of the week in most local cities.

Interested persons are invited to call the Valley Community Drive-In Church office, (714) 599-6767, to find a study group in their area. Pastor Melvin De Vries, senior minister of the church, is chairman and coordinator.

Church council sets swap meet

A new venture sponsored by the Pomona Valley Council of Churches, called a Summer Resources Swap Meet will be held 10:30 a.m.-2 p.m. Saturday at the United Church of Christ, Harvard and Sixth streets, Claremont.

"Since summer offers opportunities to do Christian education in interesting and innovative ways, this swap meet will have people available to share ideas that have worked for them, said a council spokesperson. "This resource sharing will be done by people who have made these ideas work in their own situations."

"Areas to be covered will be: intergenerational and family emphasis, Karen Van Hook; drama, John Rice; learning centers, Marge Reinstedt; films and the media, Justin Hinkleman; theme and variations, Barbara Stout; music, Linda Irby; and work service teams, Rob Caldread.

Much of the work in these areas will be done around the noon meal, so all participants are requested to bring a sack lunch. Beverage will be provided by the host church. Child care will also be available and sack lunches should be provided for them as well. The swap meet is under the direction of Jane Winant, assisted by the Rev. Rod Parrott. They will share in presentations of a general nature and a closing celebration liturgy. The entire conference comes under the sponsorship of the Christian Education Department of the council, chaired by Charles Tryon.

Cost for the event will be $1 per person or $5 per church, which may include up to 10 people from any one church.

The first of a four-part series on the "Christian Response to a Hungry World," led by Mark Bollwinkel, will be presented by Project Burning Bush 7-9 p.m. Sunday in the Fireside Room of the First Presbyterian Church of Upland. Bollwinkel is an intern at the church.

The series, sponsored by the Presbyterian Church and also St. Mark's Episcopal and the United Methodist churches of Upland, will explore the real "hunger" situation in the world, the causes of hunger, and they best way for a local Christian

Dead Sea Scroll Center Lead

Trever on lecture tour of Midwest

Dr. John C. Trever, director of the Dead Sea Scrolls Project Center at the School of Theology at Claremont, left Claremont Wednesday for an eight-day lecture tour of the Midwest.

Dr. Trever will deliver an illustrated lecture on the Dead Sea Scrolls and visit some classes today at Carleton College in Northfield, Minnesota. At Macalester College in St. Paul, Minnesota Friday, he will present the annual Phi Beta Kappa lecture in connection with the initiation of new members to the honor society. The Wesley Foundation of the University of Oklahoma will sponsor his illustrated lecture Sunday for the academic and religious community of Norman, Oklahoma. Dr. Trever will address some classes at the University of Oklahoma Monday and in the evening speak on the "Authority of the Bible in the Light of the Dead Sea Scrolls." He will address two large New Testament classes Wednesday at the University of Colorado at Boulder on the value of the Dead Sea Scrolls for New Testament studies.

Dr. Trever, while "acting director" of the American School of Oriental Research in Jerusalem during February, 1948, was the first American to see and evaluate the now famed Dead Sea Scrolls, when the first four of them were brought to the school by a Syrian Orthodox monk of St. Mark's Monastery. From his knowledge of Hebrew paleography, Dr. Trever suspected the great antiquity of the documents and secured permission to photograph them for publication by the ASOR.

When in 1966 Dr. Trever visited the "Shrine of the Book" in Jerusalem, where the original scrolls were elaborately displayed, he noted clear signs of disintegration of the documents and realized that his color photographs taken in 1948, provided the only accurate record of the documents as first discovered.

The disintegration of the original documents, as well as the limited life of the color photographs, presented the urgent need to develop a process for preserving the records of this archeological treasure.

The Dead Sea Scroll Center emerged as a result of the preservation efforts. First established in 1971 by Dr. Trever at Baldwin-Wallace College (Berea, Ohio), the Dead Sea Scroll Center was transferred in the fall of 1975 to the School of Theology at Claremont through a grant from Elizabeth Hay Bechtel of Santa Barbara, and a contribution of display prints and equipment from Baldwin-Wallace College.

Housed on the second floor of the STC library, the center consists of a small museum of Qumran antiquities, displays of natural-sized color reproductions of the major manuscripts, scenes from the caves and the Qumran Community Center by the Dead Sea, as well as related artifacts from biblical times. In addition, a research library, equipment for the preservation of the original photographs and records and for specialized research and services make it the only center of its kind in the Western world.

Speaker set for breakfast

Jess Marlow, anchorman on the 5 p.m. KNBC News Service, will be the featured speaker at the sixth Annual Laymen's Breakfast to be held 7:15 a.m. March 4 at Griswold's Pavilion, Foothill Boulevard, Claremont.

This annual event brings together laymen from more than 100 churches in the 11 communities served by the council. Chairman for this celebration is Dr. Harold McClelland of Claremont Men's College.

Marlow joined KNBC in August 1966. In addition to the News Service, he is a panelist on the Emmy winning KNBC News Service. He is president of the Los Angeles Chapter of the Society of Professional Journalists and has been the past state chairman of the California Associated Press Television and Radio Association.

No stranger to the Pomona Valley, Marlow has lectured extensively at Claremont Men's College and currently serves on the board of trustees at the School of Theology in Claremont.

His honors include the Golden Mike of the Southern California Radio and Television News Association; recognition by the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences, the American Heart Association, and the Journalism Education Association.

Honored guests at the breakfast will include representatives from the media including radio, television, and newspaper editors.

The program and arrangements are being handled under Dr. McClelland's direction. His committee consists of Dr. Harold Fastnacht, publicity; Clark Lewis, guest list; Jack Carruthers, chamber of commerce; David Martin, arrangements and hospitality; Bert Hammona and Dwight Brown, registration. Other committee members include the Rev. Oscar Vega, James Hansen, Joseph Bassett and the Rev. Leland Wilson.

Information and reservations may be obtained by calling the council office (714) 622-3806 before noon Monday or by sending a check for $3.50 to the Pomona Valley Council of Church, 1753 N. Park Ave., Pomona 91768.

'Women in Transition' to begin

The Pastoral Counseling and Growth Center in Claremont, sponsored by the Pomona Valley Council of Churches and the School of Theology at Claremont, is offering a special group experience to persons in the area.

The first weekly meeting of "Women in Transition" will be 7:00-8:30 p.m. Monday in the center, located at the United Methodist Church, 211 W. Foothill Blvd., Claremont. Interested persons are asked to contact the center, (714) 624-7130.

"THE DRUNKARD" — Villain Snidely T. Slick, (Loren Gulbranson) threatens heroine Lily White (Pam Sheldon) that she and her mother will be thrown onto the street if she doesn't pay the mortgage or marry him in "The Drunkard," presented hourly by Keefner's Kage Players at the Calikage Playhouse at Calico Ghost Town. (Photos by Lynne Locke)

Calico Ghost Town

Not dead anymore

In the late 1800s Calico was a rich town: filled with silver mines, saloons, dance halls, and a theater. Eager prospectors and donkeys loaded with supplies could be seen trudging up and down the town's steep Main Street. Estimated peak population was 5,000.

About $13-20 million of silver and $9 million worth of borate was dug from the mines surrounding the town between 1881 and 1907.

There were mines with names like Galena King, Humbug, Leviathan, Backdoor No. 1, Red Cloud, Waterloo and Old Oriental. The most important strike of all came at the Silver King mine, in its 30 miles of tunnels on 14 levels with shafts dropping 60-80 feet between levels.

Because of the 22 saloons in downtown Calico, miners kept their families in East Calico, made up of 80 homes at one time. The miners and their families lived beside 40 Chinese who lived in Chinatown and Indians who lived in nearby hogans. They purchased water for 8-25 cents per gallon. The water was transported eight miles from the Mojave Desert.

The Calico way of life came to an end, however, when the price of silver dropped from $1.31 to 63 cents an ounce at the turn of the century. The people vanished and Calico was a ghost town by 1907.

It remained "dead" until Walter Knott, owner of Knott's Berry Farm in Buena Park, restored the old town in 1951. He donated it to San Bernardino County in 1966.

The town isn't dead anymore. The county has operated it as an amusement park - historical museum for the past few years.

Lil's Saloon, the Town Office, Lucy Lane's House and the Gallery of Living Mirrors are among the restored buildings open to the public.

The old theater was restored and now is the setting for melodramas, including "The Drunkard" and "Pauline's Perilous Protector." The Maggie Mine has been retimbered and is open for tours. An antique steam engine carries visitors around the area on the Calico & Odessa Railroad.

Also located in the town is a museum, the Myutery Shack, the Silver Bowl outdoor amphitheater, the Calico Kitchen, a print shop, the Top of the Hill Confectionary, an old school house, the town jail and shops featuring leatherwork, stones, ceramics, bottles, spices and other items.

Near the town is a campground with tables, barbecues, restrooms and showers.

There's even a little silver left in the old town — about $1.5 million worth. But it's in the form of a dirt hill leftover from the old mines and would take about $3 million to process.

Located 10 miles northwest of Barstow in the central part of the Mojave Desert, Calico Ghost Town is open 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. daily. Admission is free. Parking is 50 cents. Campsites are $3.50 per night.

BOTTLE HOUSE — Among attractions at Calico is this bottle house constructed of bottles within a wood frame. Other attractions include Lil's Saloon, the Town Office, Lucy Lane's House and the Gallery of Living Mirrors.

SHOOTOUT — Visitors to Calico are entertained by action-packed shootouts on Main Street featuring sheriffs, gunslingers and rough-riding cowboys. Located 10 miles northwest of Barstow in the central part of the Mojave Desert, the ghost town is open 9 a.m.-5 p.m. daily.

LOOKING FOR SILVER — Miner and his mule looking for silver around the hills of Calico are brought to life in these statues at Calico Ghost Town, now operated as an amusement park - historical museum by San Bernardino County. About $13-20 million worth of silver and $9 million of borate was dug from Calico mines between 1881 and 1907.

OLD SCHOOLHOUSE — Complete with old desks and inkwells, a wood stove and an out house, this one-room schoolhouse just outside of town is presided over by an old-time "schoolmarm."

local historical art, mammal and ornithology exhibits as well as lectures and entertainment. Museum hours are 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and 1-5 p.m. Sunday. It is closed Monday. (Photo by Don Ham)

Saturday at Citrus College

Young musicians to play

Cowinners of the Young Artist Auditions will be major attractions with the San Gabriel Valley Symphony 8:30 p.m. Saturday at Citrus College, Azusa.

Featured artists will include oboist Terry Row, 24 years old, of Los Angeles, and violinist Nancy Park, 16, of Tarzana, who tied for first place in the Senior Instrumental Division of the recent competition.

They will perform "Concerto for Oboe and Orchestra" by W. Mozart, and "Symphony Espagnole" by E. Lalo, respectively, under the baton of Dr. Giora Bernstein, music director and conductor.

The evening's program will also include Barber's "Adagio for Strings," and Beethoven's "Eroica, Symphony No. 3." "Eroica" will replace "Pictures at an Exhibition," which was originally scheduled.

Miss Park, a native of Korea, has studied with Alice Schoenfeld at University of Southern California for the past four years. She won the "Stars of Tomorrow" solo competition of the Los Angeles Philharmonic; has performed with the Philharmonic in numerous youth concerts; and preceding Isaac Stern's concert, was presented by the Philharmonic Concert Association in the "Friday Night" preview concert at the Music Center.

Miss Park is a chamber music player of high quality. As a member of the Young International Trio, she was the 1974 first-prize winner in the Coleman Chamber Music Competition, intermediate division; and in 1972, was the youngest participant ever to win in the Coleman Chamber Music Competition, senior division. In 1975, the trio won the Young Musicians Foundation competition, and on Feb. 7 of this year, were presented in recital by the foundation at the Wilshire Ebell Theatre in Los Angeles. She has performed on CBS Television, and has been a featured soloist with several orchestras in the Southland, including the Redlands and Westside symphonies. In 1974, she made a European debut in Verona, Italy. She is currently a junior at the Westlake School for Girls.

Row began oboe studies at the age of 8; studied at the Juilliard Conservatory of Music 1970-72, and at the California Institute of the Arts, 1972-74. His instructors have included Salvatore Spano, Lois Wann and Allan Vogel. He is principal oboe with the Young Musicians Foundation (YMF) Debut and the University of Redlands Orchestras, coprinicipal oboe of the San Gabriel Valley Symphony; second oboe with the Los Angeles Radio Orchestra, and a member of the William Hall Chorale Orchestra. He is also on the faculties at Chapman College and the University of Redlands, where, in 1975, he taught at the Redlands Summer Music Clinic.

Row has participated in several music festivals such as the L'Institut de Haute Etudes Musicales, Switzerland; the Study of Baroque Music, France; Hidden Valley Music Seminars; and festivals at Claremont and Ojai. His extensive solo performances included appearances in 1975 with the YMF Debut, Ventura Festival, and Los Angeles Radio orchestras. State Senator H. L. Richardson (R) of the 19th District and Assemblyman John Collier (R) of the 61st District, will present the scholarship awards to Row and Miss Park, as well as an Achievement Award Certificate to Tom Hoisch, 18, of Beverly Hills. Hoisch, a cellist and student of Joseph Di Tullio, placed second in the Young Artist Auditions.

The public is invited to attend the Young Artist Concert. Seats are not reserved. Donations are $2.50 for adults, $1.50 for students and senior citizens. Call (213) 963-5415 for information.

Russian folk music to air

Two exciting repertoires of traditional and popular Russian folk music will be presented by the Odessa Balalaikas 4 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Sunday at Mt. San Antonio College, building 4.

room 221 in the Social Science Center Auditorium. Tickets, $4 general admission and $2 students, may be obtained at the MSAC Community Services Office. Garbed in colorful traditional costumes of old Russia, the Odessa Balalaikas has an extensive repertoire of Russian folk music including "Dark Eyes," "Moscow Nights," theme from "Dr. Zhivago" and "Those Were the Days." The group, which plays Russian-made instruments, will also sing a number of gypsy songs. Since its debut in 1972, the Odessa Balalaikas has played more than 125 engagements. It has just returned from a 10-week tour through Texas and Colorado.

The instrumentalists include Steve Wolownik, a UCLA graduate who formed the group; Jonathan Rothe, Peter Rothe, Judy Sherman, Linda O'Brien and David Lieberman.

It is the only group of Americans traveling and giving concerts of this type of music in the United States. There are some groups from Russia entertaining in the U.S., but their approach to the concert situation is different from Odessa Balalaikas.

The Soviet groups tend to stress the exoticism and relative strangeness of their culture, generally remaining quite distant from the audience.

Hindu Kush

Stan La Rue, professional film producer, will present the second special event program for the Wind & Sun Council of Camera Clubs at the San Bernardino County Museum in Redlands.

The color motion picture film is titled "Along the Hindu Kush" and is the latest of a series of films made by La Rue. Showing time will be 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the museum auditorium, 2024 Orange Tree Lane, at the California Street off-ramp of the San Bernardino Freeway.

Tax Tips

Deduct moving costs

EDITOR'S NOTE: Tax Tips consists of information prepared by the California Society of Certified Public Accountants to help people prepare their federal income tax returns. The information is reprinted here as a public service.

Moving expense deductions
If you moved to a new home because of a job change or transfer by your employer, you may be able to deduct part or all of the cost of your move.

Two requirements must be met: (1) the distance from your old residence to your new job has to be at least 50 miles greater than the distance from your old residence to your old job;

(2) generally, you must work full-time at the new location for at least 39 weeks in the 12-month period following the move, but not necessarily for the same employer.

Deductible moving expenses are as follows:

1 - Travel expense (including meals and lodging) while en route from your old residence to your new.

2 - The cost of moving household goods and personal effects.

3 - The cost of pre-move house-hunting trips.

4 - The cost of temporary quarters (both meals and lodging) at the new location of work during any period of 30 consecutive days after obtaining work.

5 - Certain costs of selling your residence.

Items 3, 4 and 5 above have an overall limitation of $2,500 (1,250 for married persons filing separate returns) of which only $1,000 (500) can relate to items 3 and 4.

Any reimbursement or direct payment of moving expenses by your employer must be included in your gross income and is subject to withholding unless your employer can reasonably expect that you will be able to take a corresponding deduction.

Personal exemption tax credit

A new tax credit is available in 1975 to all individual taxpayers — a credit for personal exemptions.

This credit is computed by multiplying $30 by the number of personal exemptions (other than those for age and blindness) that taxpayer claims on his or her 1975 return for spouse, dependents and him or herself.

The credit is then applied against the taxpayer's income tax, but may not exceed it.

Deductible expenses for charity volunteers

An individual who performs volunteer work for a charitable organization should not overlook the fact that a contribution deduction is allowable for unreimbursed out-of-pocket expenses. These include transportation costs; that is, expenses for the operation, repair and maintenance of an automobile (not insurance or depreciation) to the extent attributable to use in rendering charitable services. The Internal Revenue Service will not question a standard rate of seven cents per mile as the cost of operating an automobile for the benefit of charity.

Most other out-of-pocket expenses in connection with volunteer work for charity should also be deducted. These include meeting expenses, lodging expenses, telephone, and cost maintenance of special uniforms. An individual is not entitled to a deduction for the value of his or her time or service.

Try container vegetables

The container gardener has moved into the world of the victory gardener with shining examples of success. For the best results try brussels sprouts, chives, cucumbers, eggplant, herbs, New Zealand spinach, parsley, peppers, Swiss chard, tomatoes and lettuce. Grown in the proper light-weight soil mixes container vegetables yield bigger, earlier harvests with much less weeding and cultivating!

If you are gardening this season for excellence in taste as well as the satisfaction of "growing your own," be sure to include your favorite herbs in your plans. They don't take up much room, and if properly stored they will freshen up your meals through the winter months.

CITY OF SAN DIMAS CASH CONTRACT NO. 76-1 WALNUT AVENUE FROM GLADSTONE STREET TO 900 FEET NORTHERLY NOTICE INVITING BIDS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the City Council of the City of San Dimas, County of Los Angeles, State of California, hereby invites sealed proposals or bids for the construction and completion of street improvements, drainage structures and appurtenances to be constructed in Walnut Avenue, all in accordance with the plans and specifications on file in the office of the City Engineer of the City of San Dimas.

Said proposals or bids shall be delivered to the City Clerk of the City of San Dimas on or before 10:00 A.M. of the 3rd day of March, 1976, at the office of the City Clerk, City Hall, 245 East Bonita Avenue, San Dimas, California. The City Clerk will at said time, in open session publicly open, examine and declare said bids.

All proposals shall be accompanied by a check payable to the City of San Dimas, and certified by a responsible bank for an amount which shall not be less than ten (10%) percent of the aggregate of the proposal or by a bond for said amount, and so payable, signed by the bidder and two sureties who shall justify before any officer competent to administer an oath, in double the said amount and over and above all statutory exemptions, or by a corporate Surety Bond to the satisfaction and approval of the City Council of the City of San Dimas, California.

The bid check, bond or Surety Bond of the successful bidder will be forfeited to said City in the event such successful bidder fails or refuses to enter into the required contract within 5 days after the written notice that said contract has been awarded to him for the work.

The successful bidder, simultaneously with the execution of the Contract Agreement, will be required to furnish a labor and materials bond in an amount equal to fifty percent (50%) of the contract price and a faithful performance bond equal to one hundred percent (100%) of the contract price.

The City of San Dimas hereby notifies all bidders that it will affirmatively insure that in any contract entered into pursuant to this advertisement, minority business enterprises will be afforded full opportunity to submit bids in response to this invitation and will not be discriminated against on the grounds of race, color, sex or national origin in consideration for an award.

BIDDERS ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED that, pursuant to the Labor Code of the State of California, said City Council has ascertained and determined the general prevailing rate of per diem wages and the general prevailing rate for legal holiday and overtime work in the locality in which said work is to be performed for each craft or type of workman needed to execute the contract for said work, and it will be required that no less than said rates be paid to all such workmen employed or engaged on the work. The rate so ascertained heretofore by the City Council of the City of San Dimas pertaining to the craft, classifications and type of workmen needed to execute this contract are available at the office of the City Clerk.

Proposals must be submitted on the form prepared and furnished for that purpose, which may be obtained at the San Dimas City Hall, at which office bidders may also obtain copies of plans and specifications for the contemplated work as follows: One set of plans and specifications is available to each contractor proposing to submit a bid for the work for a deposit of five dollars ($5.00), such deposit is not refundable.

The City Council reserves the right to reject any and all bids received and to compare the relative merits of the respective bids and to choose that which in the opinion of said City Council will best serve the interests or needs of said City and to take all bids received under advertisement for a period of not to exceed sixty (60) days, after the declaration thereof.

Said findings and written decision shall be sent to the applicant and forwarded to the Commission and Council. If the finding is that the proposed use is similar to those listed and said finding has not been appealed as set forth in Subsection D of this Section below, then said use shall be considered as if it were included within the "Uses Permitted" Section of the District under consideration.

(2) Signs: Application for review and approval of signs not required to be approved by the Architectural Commission pursuant to Section 9110.129 of the Zoning Regulations shall be made to the Chief Building Official for action by the Administrative Committee.

Such applications shall be accepted only if it appears that the request is limited to the following:

(a) Area requirements may be reduced by not more than ten percent of that required in the District.

(b) Yard requirements may be reduced by permitting portions of a building to extend into and occupy not more than ten percent of the area of a required yard.

(c) Maximum building height requirements may be increased subject to the provisions set forth in Section 9110.109-F.

(d) The reconstruction or remodeling of non-conforming buildings may be permitted if it, in the Committee's judgment, will bring such buildings and subsequent use into greater conformity with the uses permitted in the District.

(e) The Administrative Committee shall review site plans as to area coverage, conformance with required setbacks, proper traffic flow, adequacy of parking places and similar technical matters.

(f) The Administrative Committee shall have the responsibility for wall height determination as provided by Section 9110.109-J(2-a) of this Code.

(g) The Administrative Committee shall have the responsibility for review and decision of requests for approval of "change of occupancy" of existing buildings within the P-U-C-Z Zone as provided by Section 9110.99-B(1) of this Code.

(h) The Administrative Committee shall have the responsibility for determining those retail uses deemed to be especially appropriate for a particular site in an M-1 Zone and to authorize the filing of Conditional Use Permit applications for those uses as provided by Section 9110.84-A(9)-(1) of this Code.
